

What are the top 10 best-selling genres?

Top 10 best-selling genres

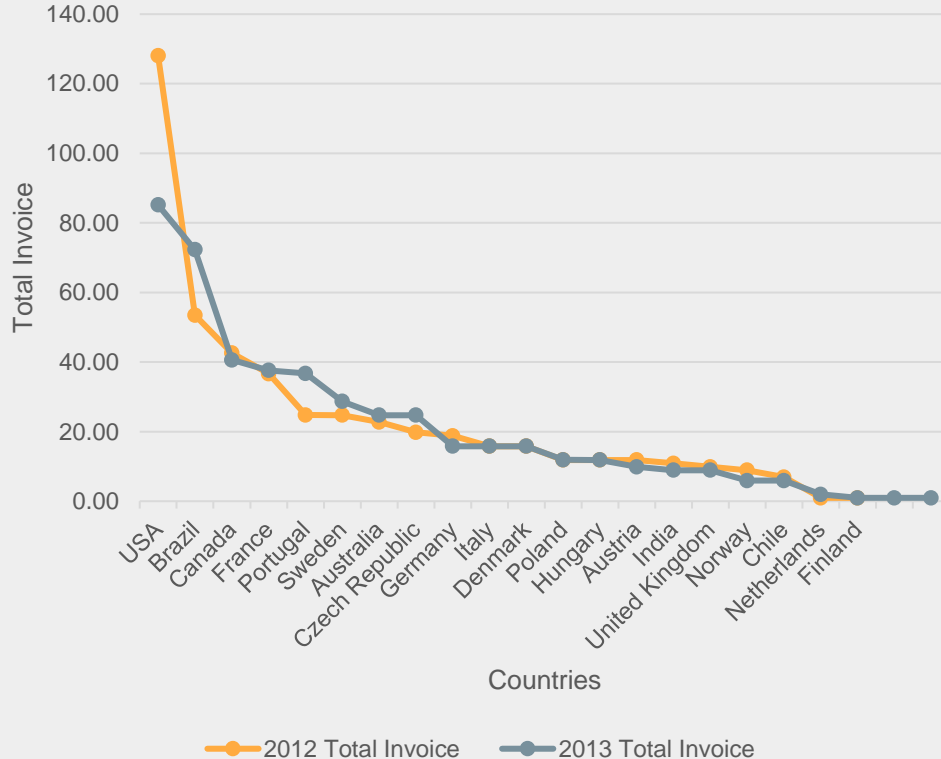

The graph provides a clear insights of the relative popularity and sales performance of these different music and entertainment genres.

The genre with the highest sales is Rock, with 826.7. This is followed by Latin music and Metal

The remaining genres in the top 10 are Alternative & Punk, TV Shows, Jazz, Blues, Drama, R&B/Soul, and Classical, in descending order of sales.

How total invoice change in 2012-2013

How total invoice change between 2012-2013 by countries

The graph compares total invoices between 2012 and 2013 for different countries.

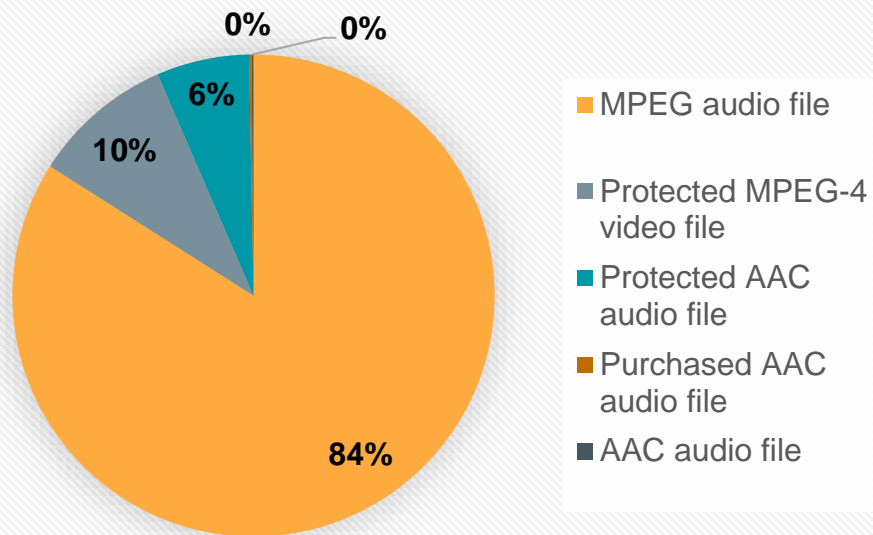

For most countries, the total invoices decreased from 2012 to 2013, indicating a decline in business activity or economic conditions.

The country with the largest decrease was the USA, and the other countries with notable decreases include Germany, Norway, Austria.

A few countries, like Brazil, Portugal, and Czech republic, showed relatively changes or slight increases.

What is the percentage of total sales generated from each media type?

Total sales of MediaType

The pie chart provides the percentage distribution of total sales across the various media types.

The largest portion of total sales, 84%, comes from MPEG audio files. This is the predominant media type generating revenue.

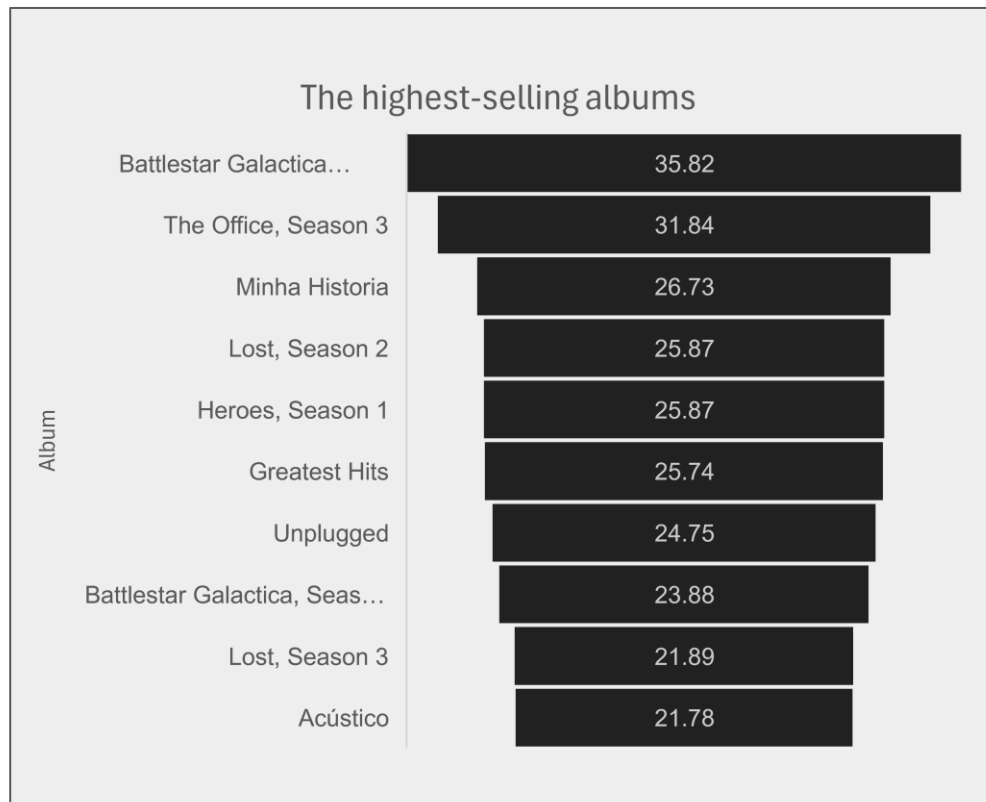

The next largest segment is Protected MPEG-4 video files, accounting for 10% of total sales.

Protected AAC audio files contribute 6% to the total sales.

Finally, Purchased AAC audio files and AAC audio files make up the smallest portion at 0% of total sales.

Overall, the graph highlights that MPEG audio files are the most significant revenue driver, generating most total sales at 84%. The other media types play a much smaller role in overall sales generation based on the percentages shown.

The highest-selling albums

The graph provides a clear visual representation of the top-selling albums and their relative sales performance, . The albums are listed vertically, and the corresponding sales figures are displayed horizontally.

The album with the highest sales was Battlestar Galactica with 35.82. On the other hand, the album with the lowest sales was Acústico with 21.78